attracting no little attention. In the San Francisco Post of last Wednesday we find the following:

"C. Wilkes, proprietor of a mine he calls the Alps, located on the hills about two miles north of the mesh fills as a shaft and run drifts on this mine "all alone by himself." He has worked there four or five years, owns it all himself, says he knows it's a big thing, and down't want to sail an inch. He is emphatically a "developer." This statement by the Chronicle reminds us that we have frequently wondered my it is that there are not more small mills working up such ore as can be obtained without the aid of expensive meshinery, is other works, why has these not been devised some cheaper means for individual mining and ore reducing than now crists. We are constantly hearing of the discovery of valuable quarts. These discoverys all seem to think they can do nothing ustil they see get steam hoisting works and expossible that hand power can be remuserated in regard to the cost of living Mr. These discoverys all seem to think they can do nothing ustil they see get steam hoisting works and expossible that hand power can be remuserated in a discovery of valuable quarts.

Mr. C. C. Powning of the Esso Journal was in the city yesterday. When we first met him he had under his arm a law book. It was nomebody's treatise on the laws of libel and slander. We had forgotten that Mr. Powning had been such by Scholler power, and the cost of living Mr. Thougeon, we had been such by Scholler power in the city yesterday. Two Faithful Cong

Yesterday Hop. William Woodburn representative in Congress from this State during the term which closed on the 4th of March last, and Hon. H. F. Page, so well known as a member from the Middle District of California, arrived here from Washington. Both gentlemen are in fine health and spirits and glad to return to the Pacific slope. Mr. Woodburn's term in Congress has ended. He is now returned to private life. He and his friends have every reason to be proud of his record. He entered Congress without any previous experience in public affairs. Also, he had but re-cently identified himself with the Recently identified himself with the Re-publican party. He has not only proven himself a very faithful and efficient rep-resentative of the interests of this State, but he has shown himself a true, faith-ful and valuable friend to the Republiful and valuable friend to the Republican party. His welcome home should be of the heartiest character; for he has well earned the respect and admiration of his constituents. Mr. Page was elected, last Fall, to a third term in the House of Representatives. In the four years of his service he has shown himself a men of very superior capacity. He has most signally illustrated the value of industry and a discriminating judgment. He possesses in a remarkable degree what goes by the mismomer of common sense. This invaluable sense, is unfortunately, too rare to be common. Mr. Page accompanied be common. Mr. Page accompanied Mr. Woodburn to Virginia City where he will remain to-day—going on to Placerville to-night, Of course he will participate in the coming political cam-paign in California. He will return in time to attend the extra session in June, which he says is inevitable. These distinguished visitors were handsomely entertained at lunch yesterday by Hon Sames Crawford who returned from San Francisco yesterday, where he went to attend the funeral of the late Wirt Hopkins.

Mascu is spoiling all his pleasant impressions. We said he was misnamed by being called after Mars, the old beathen war god. We are afraid we are going to be compelled to qualify that remark. We actually caught him snowing yesterday. Up yonder on the Sierra are marshalled the forces of war. The skirmish line looks black and threatenskirmish line looks black and threatening. The swift soudding scouts which come flying out from the gathered storm hosts portend trouble and tempest. The robin and the lark repent their hasty temerity and shiver, despondently and in silence upon the bare limbs of trees.
Buds and blossoms shrink and shrivel in the dangerous cutting blast. Winter hovers on the flanks of venturesome Spring and frost and ice seem ready to take the place of the balmy airs and genial sunshine of a gentler time suddenly arrested.

A FINE Dog.-Congressman Woodburn brought with him from Washington one of the finest and most valuable dogs ever brought to this State. It is a young Irish setter of the very purest strain, a fine, healthy fellow with as mobile a head and as beautiful a pair of eyes as ever sat on a dog's shoulders. He is a present from one of Mr. Wood-burn's Washington friends.

The Bonanza law-suit has got along so far as that the defense have made their opening statement and begun upon their spening statement and begun upon the dreary task of examining experts to prove the validity of Bishop's signature. How much longer the case will stretch out nobody knows and no felish can find out.

Good FRIDAY .- There will be services in St. Peters Episcopal Church this morning at 11 A. M. with a sermon, and this evening at 7½ P. M. Immediately after the service the usual B and C class will be held.
